Fighting Editor Released Under $2500 Bond By Higher Court

SANTA FE, N. M., July 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—More than two days after he was sentenced to jail at Las Vegas for contempt of court, and after Sheriff Delago twice refused to honor pardons for him issued by Governor J. P. Hinkle, Carl McGee is at liberty under $2500 bond. The Albuquerque editor was released last night following a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus before the state supreme court.

In a session replete with the charges and counter charges by contending forces, the state tribunal granted the editor temporary liberty pending the outcome of the court's deliberations regarding the power of pardon vested in the state executive in cases of direct contempt.

Attempts by O. O. Ashken, of Las Vegas, appearing as attorney for Sheriff Delago to inject the questions of validity of the pardons granted McGee, met with failure and the court also refused to entertain his motion that McGee be forbidden to publish anything concerning the trial in his newspaper, the New Mexico State Tribune.

Neither Party To Limit Size Of Individual Contributions

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Plans being made for the Presidential campaign this year, contemplate probably the largest expenditure of money in the history of politics. The race of money in pre-election fights to secure election with it, the faint of corruption. Legitimate expenses have grown greater and greater as the years have gone by and the high cost of living has hit the hustings as well as the home.

Senator Thomas, of Idaho, chairman of the special Senate committee which is to report campaign expenditures, expects to have a busy time of it between now and early November. For all of the committee have decided to emulate the example of Chairman Butler, of the Federal Reserve board, who has detailed reports from time to time as the campaign progresses.

Announcements that the Independent progressives headed by Senator McFadden and Senator Wheeler are going to attempt to raise a fund of at least $5,000,000 gives some hinting of what the aggregate expenditures of the campaign may be. This is far more than the Democrats were able to obtain in 1920. The Democrats practically starved to death that year while the Republicans revelled in plenty.

Attacked By A Huge Alligator

MARKSVILLE, IA., July 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Thomas Briggs, of Little River, near here, was recovering from the attack yesterday of a 16-foot alligator he encountered while picking moss in the swamps near here. In crossing a ditch containing about four feet of water, Briggs stepped on something he thought was a log.

The "log" proved to be an alligator, which caught Briggs just above the knee, cracking the bone of his leg. After a struggle the alligator let go and made a vicious attempt to catch Briggs' leg. Briggs however leaped in time to prevent the animal getting a firm hold.

Briggs' cries for help attracted attention of a brother nearby, who shot and killed the alligator.

France And Bankers Can't Agree On Loan

(Editor's Note:—The "deadlock" which is delaying the Inter-Allied reparations conference at London is due to differences between France and a group of International Bankers, who propose to float the loan to Germany called for by the experts' plan. The following interpretative cable from Ed L. Keen, general European manager of the United Press, explains wherein these differences lie.)

(BY ED L. Keen)
(General European Manager, United Press)

LONDON, July 25.—(By the United Press.)—The entire experts' report is based upon the conviction that a reparations settlement is impossible without economic rehabilitation of Germany. This latter, it is agreed, is impossible without the immediate assistance of a large international loan and the assurance that Germany will not be hampered in the future in carrying out her reparations obligations by any independent action of any power, such as France's present economic control of the Ruhr.

This $200,000,000 loan, which is the cardinal feature of the experts' plan, necessarily fails if the Anglo-American bankers do not obtain from the London conference satisfactory securities for the loan.

Not the bankers claim there will be no such security and that they therefore

New High For Yellowstone Travel

GARDINER, MONT., July 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—With a total of 2,660 visitors for the day, July 22 set a new high record for travel in Yellowstone National Park during the season of 1924. Of this number 1,844 persons made the trip to the different roadways in 502 motor vehicles and 816 came by rail. Both rail and automobile figures were records for the season.

Temperature in the park has been generally ideal for the season, according to the records kept by the official weather observer at Mammoth, although last Sunday tourists were treated to a midsummer blizzard, when 1.25 inches of moisture, both rain and snow, fell in 24 hours. The temperature dropped as low as 34 degrees during the blizzard.

Narcotics And Aliens Off Coast To Be Smuggled

NEW YORK, July 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Permission to board vessels of rum row to search for narcotics and aliens to be smuggled into the country will be sought by agents from the treasury department, it was announced today following the seizure of a letter on a prisoner indicating their presence on vessels anchored off shore.

The letter, written by a man on one of the boats to Robert Wylie, Glasgow, Scotland, stated that Chinese and other foreigners were aboard the boats and also that an airplane has been making six trips daily from the fleet with illicit cargoes of liquor.

The letter bearing this information fell into the hands of the officials through the capture of a power boat carrying 200 cases of liquor.

The letter follows:

"Dear Parents:—Just a line to let you know all is well and dandy. Don't write any more, as we are nearly empty and shall soon be home. All we have left is about 2,000 cases which we will discharge in two days if all's well.

"I hope you and the family are all right, as this finds me at sea and I get my bonus and wages. I'll not forget to bring some presents home. There are so many sales over here and things are four times cheaper than they are at home.

"Well, parents, this is a very exciting life out here. There are two boat loads of Chinese, Italians, Greeks and so forth all waiting to be smuggled into the United States. There are also a couple of steamers loaded with cocaine, opium and morphine, all of which is being smuggled in every day. We have a seaplane which comes out every day and takes 19 cases each trip. It makes an average of six trips a day.

"I'll have to close now, as there are some customers alongside I must attend to."

Frightened to Death By Burglar Alarm

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—(By the United Press.)—When the Landlord installed a burglar alarm in her apartment house, Mrs. Annie B. Warren-Eschbach, of the branch of the National City Bank of New York, the British Bank of South America, the London and Brazil Bank, London and River Plate Bank and other Brazilian and French owned banks along the Rue Quinze de Novembre, one of the principal business streets of Sao Paulo city.

The rebels sent out a new request for an armistice so that the remainder of the civilian population could be evacuated, the dispatch to La Razon said, "but it was refused."

The newspapers estimate that more than 200,000 civilians still are in the city and in grave danger from the bombardment despite efforts by both sides to protect them. A majority of the American colony has left Sao Paulo city.

Bobbed Hair Brings Wage Raise Demand

CHICAGO, July 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Bobbed hair is given as the cause of wage increase demands by the Journeymen Barbers' Union, which threatens to take a strike vote next week if an agreement is not reached.

"With bobs ranging in price from $1 to $1.50, with the prospect of $1.50 increasing, and shampooing with the barber having to go to school to learn how to do it we want more money," W. S. Leidl, union president, says.

The present scale is $26 weekly with sixty per cent of all checks over a total of $38. The demand is for $48 salary and the same percentage of all over $50.

Beggars Object To Women's Dress Edict

LONDON, July 25.—(By the United Press.)—A dissenting voice has been raised to the dress reform inaugurated among Catholic women church goers, says a Central News dispatch from Rome. It comes from the beggars who cluster at the church doors and beg alms.

"These beggars met and sent a resolution of protest to Pope Pius, claiming they have been hard hit by the dress reform edict, which they claim, has cut down the attendance at church of many women."

The Central News says that priests are complaining that the churches are losing congregations and that offertories are greatly diminished.

BOMBARDMENT OF SAO PAULO IS RESUMED

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BUENOS AIRES, July 25.—Bombardment of Sao Paulo was resumed by Brazilian federal forces late yesterday with great damage to the city, according to radio messages received here today.

There was severe fighting at the rebel outposts outside Sao Paulo city during the night.

Federal cavalry carried out a number of raids penetrating Sao Paulo at scattered points but were forced to retire.

The luxurious hotel esplanade, one of the finest hotels in South America, has been damaged by the federal bombardment. It was being used as a hospital by the revolutionaries.

Other buildings damaged, according to a radio received by the Buenos Aires afternoon newspaper, La Razon, include the branch of the National City Bank of New York, the British Bank of South America, the London and Brazil Bank and other Brazilian and French owned banks along the Rue Quinze de Novembre, one of the principal business streets of Sao Paulo city.

The rebels sent out a new request for an armistice so that the remainder of the civilian population could be evacuated, the dispatch to La Razon said, "but it was refused."

(BY LLOYD ALLEN)
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 25.—(By the United Press.)—With the gulf between the view points of the French and the Anglo-American bankers as wide as ever, the "Big Five" of the Inter-Allied Conference—Ambassadors, Kellogg, Premier, MacDonald, Herriot and Thomsen, and Count D'Estimand—met at No. 10 Downing street today to resume their struggle for a compromise.

A meeting of the first committee of the conference which has to deal with the points under dispute, was postponed pending the outcome of this unofficial meeting. The third committee met.

Girl Tarred and Feathered By a Mob of Fifty Men

MIDDLETON, Md., July 25.—Dorothy Grandon, 21, of Martinsburg, Pa., was tarred and feathered last night by a mob of 50 men on the county road between Myersville and Middleton, Md.

Fifty business men, merchants and citizens of Myersville, face arrest on charges of being members of the mob, Sheriff Ingomar of Frederick county after questioning the Grandon girl at the home of James Whip, a farmer announced that warrants would be sworn out during the day.

Whip was threatened with death because of his rescue of the girl from the mob. With J. O. Shepley, a Myersville merchant, Whip was attracted by the girl's screams. His home is near the scene of the assault. The two men ran up the road fought their way through the mob and found the girl covered with tar.

Whip secured a sheet, wrapped it around the girl and carried her to his home. A doctor found her body covered with bruises as result of the beating she received at the hands of the mob. Mr. and Mrs. Whip succeeded in only partially removing the tar from the girl's body.

The girl said she had been visiting at the home of Mrs. Volia Kennedy, near the foot of Catoctin Mountain on the county road near Myersville. She came here last week with a girl named Mabel Mills, 20, of Hagerstown.

Yesterday, Mrs. Kennedy received a letter from Sheriff Ingomar ordering her to leave the county.

FREDERICK, MD., July 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—A young woman whose name was said to be Dorothy Grandon, of Martinsburg, West Virginia, was tarred and feathered near Myersville, Frederick county last night by an unmasked mob; said to have been led by a young married woman who had objected to alleged attentions paid by her husband to Miss Grandon.

The mob met the woman on the street and took her to the edge of the village where she was stripped of her attire and a coat of tar and feathers was applied.

A woman companion of Miss Grandon also had been ordered to leave Myersville, but she was not molested.

Loeb Tells Newspaper Associates Murderers Ought To Be Caught And Strung Up For The Crime

CHICAGO, July 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Nathan Leopold, planned to take his own life in the event of his being caught in the police dragnet which was spread for the murderers of young Robert Franks, Detective Sergeant William Crut testified the defendant told him on May 31, a few hours after his confession to the crime.

Leopold told Crut he had carried a package of "harmless looking headache powders", one of which was "plugged" with strychnine. The young man told the officer a few hours after his introduction to the state's attorney the witness said that he planned to take the poison in the event that things began to "look bad" for him.

CRIMINAL COURT ROOM, CHICAGO

(By United Press.)

Richard Loeb brazenly directed a hunt for the kidnapers and slayers of Robert Franks two days after the killing. Howard Mayer, Chicago reporter, testified today at the judicial hearing of Loeb and Leopold for the Franks murder.

Mayer said that he was directed by his paper to pick up anything he could on the case. Mayer said he was walking on the University of Chicago campus when he met Loeb. The conversation turned to the murder.

"Loeb said to me he did not think that the kidnapers would meet Jacob Franks, the father, to collect the $10,000 ransom demanded in the letter. He said he hardly thought the kidnapers would be at the drug store where the father was directed to go for further instructions. He suggested that I make a round of several South Side drug stores in the hope that I might find the one to which Jacob Franks was directed to go."

"With two other reporters I started a search of several drug stores. Loeb went with us in an automobile. It was raining."

"After several attempts we found a drug store in which a negro porter told us that on the afternoon previous two culls had come for a Mr. Franks. The party told us he had told the person who had called that there was no Mr. Franks there and that the conversation ended."

"We telephoned our newspapers to give them the story—we had found the drug store to which the murdered boy's father was to have gone according to instructions, in turning over the $10,000 ransom."

Loeb says He Gave Them a Scoop

"As we left the drug store Loeb said to me:

"See, that's what comes from reading detective stories. I told you you'd find the drug store. I've given you fellows a scoop for your papers."

"Then we drove around to the Franks home and told Mr. Franks we had found the drug store. Loeb was with us while we talked to Mr. Franks."

"Then we went out to buy a paper to see our story in print."

"When we got one, Loeb asked to keep it and we let him out of the car to go home."

Alvin Goldstein, another reporter, former fellow student, testified that he met Loeb in front of the Franks home on the evening of May 22.

"Loeb asked me what it was all about, referring to the excitement, and I told him of the murder."

"Then I saw him again the next day with a group of friends. They had several newspapers dealing with the murder. One of the boys asked Loeb whether he had known Robert Franks and what sort of a fellow he was. Loeb replied that he knew him and 'he was the kind of a kid that anybody would kidnap and kill.'"

Goldstein said that Loeb had used certain "expletives" and at the command of the prosecution the witness unswayed them.

James Mulroy, the third member of the reporters' party, corroborated the testimony, but added in detail:

"As soon as we found we had the right place," Mulroy said, "I went into a telephone booth and attempted to trace the call. When I did this Loeb came running up and said, 'Don't use my name, will you?'

"I told him I would not, but anyway I had no luck in getting the call traced. I was the one who asked Loeb what sort of a boy Robert Franks was. And then I asked whether Loeb didn't think that the case was originally a kidnapping affair, but that the kidnapers got frightened and murdered the boy."

Loeb says Murderers Ought To Be Hanged

"Loeb replied, 'Well if I was going to murder anyone I would murder a cucky little—like Bobby Franks.'"

Jacob Franks was out of the court room when the boys were questioned and did not hear the epithets describing Bobby, Loeb and Leopold listened to the testimony with intense interest.

Goldstein was recalled to the stand and asked whether he had any other conversation with young Loeb.

Goldstein said on one occasion when he was at the Franks home he met Loeb in the front yard. Several other people were standing around. Goldstein said.

"We were talking in a general way about the Franks case, describing several theories," the newspaper reporter testified. "Young Loeb shook his head vigorously and this is what he said:

"Follows, this is certainly a horrible crime. If they ever catch the fellows that did the killing they certainly ought to be strung up."

Facts Of Defendants Revealed

The pasts of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, slayers of Robert Franks, were put under the searchlight this afternoon.

Prof. E. W. Puttkamer, of the law department of the University of Chicago, an instructor of Leopold, said he had a conversation with Leopold on

Trainmen Neutral In Coming Campaign

CLEVELAND, O., July 25.—(By the United Press.)—The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will take a neutral position in the coming presidential campaign, according to William Lee, president.

"It has never been the policy for our international body to endorse any political candidate," said Lee. "We investigate the records of men running for office and distribute our findings through the Brotherhood."

"We then leave it for the individual members to vote as they see fit. It is our aim to defeat our enemies and elect our friends."

"The state legislative board, however, can endorse any candidate they wish to, according to Lee. The international body cannot interfere with such endorsements, he said.

Kiwanians Entertained at Boy Scout Camp; Local Scouts Win Aquatic Contest

Camp Excursion, Boy Scout summer camp on the Little Scioto river, was the scene of the Kiwanian Club outing yesterday afternoon and evening, with a swimming meet between Portsmouth and Ironton Scouts as the feature event of the occasion.

Portsmouth Scouts proved themselves masters in the water, winning easily over their Ironton opponents, 48½ to 32.

Party Kiwanians were present for the afternoon outing and supper, and voted Scout Executive Henderson and his boys real hosts.

Another feature of the afternoon was the "bubbling-up" of the far-famed Kiwanian baseball aggregation, led by Manager E. V. Leach. The Kiwanian Diamond warriors had practice yesterday afternoon, which was held more or less secretly because of fear of Scouts from the Exchange camp.

Kiwanians declare their team is in first class shape, and that pitcher

Professors Frank Appel, who it is understood on authoritative but unofficial information, will start on the annual game with the Exchange nine, is in a No. 1 shape and has both plain and fancy curves, assorted.

It all goes well, it was stated after the practice session yesterday, efforts may be made to book guests with the Giants and White Sox on their forthcoming barn-storming trips, although it is thought both teams would probably refuse to play the Kiwanians for fear of being beaten.

Beginning Sunday, July 27, the upper ferry will operate continuously between the hours of 5 a. m. and 10 p. m.—Advertisement-21.

HOLD UP CONCLAVE

ON IN CLEVELAND
CLEVELAND, July 25.—For the second time within three weeks two gunmen held up and robbed the Emerson shoe store in the downtown section and robbed the place. Their reward was only $53, as against $120 the first trip. One of the two gunmen walked into the store seemingly intent on buying a pair of shoes. He did the same thing before when he held up George Lindsay, the clerk.

Lindsay recalled the similarity of the leg and foot of the man, and left him to go to the rear of the store for a revolver and to warn his brother. A confederate of this first holdup man, however, entered then and at the point of a revolver compelled the brothers to hold up their hands while the pair rifled the cash drawer. This piece of outdrama was the fourth of its kind in Cleveland today, the total proceeds of which netted $8,000. One of the robberies was of a West Side Savings and Loan office and the others were holdups.

AIR SICKNESS FORCES

REPORTER TO ABANDON
TRANS-COUNTRY FLIGHT
COLUMBUS, July 25.—Air sickness forced Hester Mowrey of the Ohio State Journal to abandon at Chanute Field, Kansas, his trip to San Francisco in an air mail plane, according to a telegram from Mowrey tonight. Mowrey is said to have been the first civilian to receive permission from the government to make a transcontinental flight in a mail plane.

"I'm game, but I know when I'm licked," Mowrey said in his telegram. "Am returning home by rail."
His original schedule called for his arrival in San Francisco tomorrow.

CHILDREN REVEAL

SUPPRESSED MURDER
MARTINSVILLE, VA., July 25.—The testimony of children declared to have been kept quiet for more than a year under the threat of death, today caused the arrest of Alfred D. Mullins, of Bassett, near here, for the murder of his wife in June 1923.
Mullins' own story has been that his wife was shot accidentally while handling a shotgun. His five children today told the commonwealth attorney that Mullins shot his wife to death after a quarrel and commanded them under penalty of death to "keep quiet."
Mr. Dickerman Reiter, who has been ill at his home on Front street, was reported better Friday.

Saving Steps in the Kitchen

The first motto for a housewife should be "Save Effort." System will eliminate much unnecessary walking to and fro about one's work, and reduce to a minimum the climbing of stairs.

There should be a large tray in every kitchen, one in the pantry, and one in the dining room. These will save endless steps. Never visit the ice-box without tray in hand and before leaving it consider whether you have taken out everything you intend to use about your cooking.

One of the metal two-shelf tables like the one in the picture will reduce the labor of clearing the table, putting away washed dishes, or setting the table, to one journey each.

A small tea table, with two shelves, placed at one's side during meals will serve to hold the dessert or extra dishes needed, take care of the used dishes, and save the maidless housewife from running back and forth to kitchen and pantry during the meal.

Cream of Potato Soup

2 potatoes, 1 tsp. flour, 1/2 tsp. butter, 1 tsp. salt, 3 cups water, 1 cup Carnation Milk, 1 tsp. parsley. Cut potatoes in cubes and cook until soft in boiling salted water. Beat with fork in water in which potatoes were cooked. Melt butter; add flour; then milk, diluted with water, and cook five minutes, add parsley. Combine with potatoes. This recipe serves six people.

Carnation Cooked Salad Dressing with Egg

1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. sugar, 1/2 tsp. flour, 1/2 tsp. mustard, 2 eggs, 1 tsp. onion juice, 1/2 cup mild vinegar, 1/2 cup Carnation Milk, 1/2 cup water. Mix dry ingredients, add beaten eggs, onion juice and milk diluted with water. Cook in a double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, add hot vinegar, strain and cool. This recipe makes 1 1/2 cups salad dressing.

PICKED ON POORER CLASSES IN RAIDS

CANTON, O., July 25.—Chief of Police S. A. Lengel, today took the witness stand for the state in the bribery cases against E. D. Curtis, former safety director.

Lengel testified that before being appointed chief he entered into a "gentleman's agreement" between Mayor C. C. Curtis, and his brother, the safety director, not to conduct any raids until he had conferred with the director. He said he refused to sign a written resignation before his appointment, and the "gentleman's agreement" followed the refusal.

"I was never chief, in fact, until the end of the Curtis regime," Lengel testified, "there was always friction; now things are different."

Officer Homer Moore, of the vice squads said that in September, 1922, he made a liquor raid on the home of a citizen, finding more than a case of whiskey, and that Curtis took him to task for his activities, instructing him to keep hands off homes and to confine his work to the poor classes of people.

Moore also testified that in a gambling raid he arrested six men, and that one of the prisoners got an audience with the safety director, who ordered Moore to free the prisoner.

BRIDGE CRASHES AT DAYTON: SIX PERSONS ARE HURT

DAYTON, July 25.—Six persons were injured here yesterday when the steel Summit Street bridge over Wolf Creek collapsed, carrying with it on its 15 foot drop two trucks, a small automobile and two pedestrians.

The bridge had been recently inspected and found to be unsafe for heavy loading, and a sign limiting its capacity to six tons had been erected. The total weight on the bridge when it collapsed was about 14 tons, it was said tonight.

Chillicothe After Shoe Plant

CHILICOTHE, O., July 25.—The Chillicothe Chamber of Commerce is after a substantial industry which will benefit Chillicothe, the Williams-Hoyt Manufacturing Co., of Rochester, N. Y., makers of the famous "Pla-Mate Shoe" for children. At a meeting of directors, it here was decided to attempt to land the promotion.

A committee of five was appointed to undertake to raise $25,000, which has been requested by the company to get the plant in operation after it has been moved here.

Church Planning To Celebrate Anniversary

February 9, 1925, will mark the fiftieth anniversary of Second Presbyterian church and, although that date is several months away, plans are already being made to fittingly observe the anniversary. A general committee composed of one member from each of the three boards has been named to have charge of a drive that is expected to end in the attainment of several goals the joint boards have set to be reached before the Golden Jubilee. The committee consists of Albert Marting, from the Board of Elders; Wesley P. Ridemour, Board of Deacons; and Howard E. Baughman, Board of Trustees.

Every department of the church is to be represented in these goals and it is expected that the observance of

We Believe In Giles Snively

Some reasons why we, the Republican officials in Morgan Township, and the officials of the Christian Societies endorse Giles Snively as one of our candidates for County Commissioner.

1. We believe him to be a man of good, clean character.
2. We believe him to be a man well qualified for the office.
3. We have faith in him and believe that if elected he will be honest in his office and be a servant of all the people and not a few political friends.
4. We believe that the Republicans of Scioto County owe his nomination to us, as Morgan Township is one of the strongest Republican precincts in the county, yet has never been represented in county office except infirmity director.

We ask the Republicans of Scioto County to vote for Giles Snively on August 12th for County Commissioner, and your support will be appreciated by:

Albert S. Bonner, Clerk of Morgan Township; M. L. Bonner, President Board of Education; Mrs. Blanche Bonner, O. E. Silcott, Member Board of Education; Clarence McCall, Trustee of Morgan Township; J. F. Crabtree, Member Board of Education; Miss Nora Snively, President Christian Endeavor Society; F. E. Price, Trustee U. B. Church; Sherman Le Master, Superintendent U. B. Sunday School; C. D. HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., July 25.—William Moore, 19, was held to the circuit court here this morning by Judge Rucker on a charge of involuntary manslaughter, growing out of the death of J. H. WORK IS RESUMED ON OHIO RIVER DAMS

The Cincinnati Enquirer yesterday said the following:
Work was resumed yesterday by Major A. E. Lyman, officer in charge of Cincinnati District, Corps of Engineers, at Ohio River Dam No. 36, at Coney Island, and 88, at Coney Island, and he announced the latter dam will be completed within a month if river conditions continue favorable.
Resumption of lock and dam construction work on the Ohio River has been delayed approximately two months as a result of the high stages of the river which have prevailed up to this week. The excessive rains of May and June were responsible for continued high stages of the Ohio at all points in the Cincinnati District, Major Lyman states.
Large forces of men were placed at work by Major Lyman yesterday morning on the construction of the two dams and pumping out the lock chamber at Dam No. 36. Work will start immediately at No. 36 to complete the lock. Private contractors who are to construct the lock gates at the two dams will begin their work within a day or two.

TIGERS AGAIN SETTING PACE

NEW YORK, July 25.—Detroit, New York and Washington change positions so rapidly in the American League that they scarcely can keep on their own standing. The Tigers yesterday elevated them to the head of the list again, but a game in the van of the World Champions and Senators who today are tied for second place.

In another game, in keeping with the high temperature in the metropolis, Detroit put over the deciding tally just in time to annex a five to four win before hostilities were stopped at the end of the eighth to enable the Yankees to catch a train for the west. Bassler, whose fatal error in the final inning of Wednesday's hectic contest, permitted Schang to score the tying run, registered the winning marker on his triple and pinch hitter Wingo's single in the last round.

In spite of Walter Johnson's blow up in the fifth inning, Washington finally emerged victorious over Chicago for the fourth time in the five game series by a score of 7 to 5.

Russell held the White Sox safe during the remaining four sessions. As Karp failed to repeat his winning performance of last Monday against Philadelphia, St. Louis dropped the last game of the series 5 to 0. Baumgartner twirled heady ball for the Athletics.

Boston staged a successful offensive against Cleveland in the battle for sixth place and drew up on even terms with the Indians by virtue of a 10 to 9 triumph in ten innings. Baseball in the National League was confined to Pittsburgh, where Brooklyn lost the last game of its western trip to the Pirates by 8 to 1.

LOCAL N. & W. TEAM TO PLAY BELLEVUE SUNDAY

The following is from the Cincinnati Enquirer:

Dick Brown, former Indianapolis American Association hurler, will be on the mound for the N. & W. team of Portsmouth, Ohio, Sunday when they tackle the Bellevue at the Bellevue Park. Browns, who is still a very capable hurler, will endeavor to make a triumphant one, as he has run up a string of nine straight wins against some of the best semi-pro teams in the Middle West, and hopes to make it 10 successive victories at the expense of Bellevue's manager.

REDS START LONG TRIP

The Red team is now off on its second invasion of the East. The trip will last exactly three weeks, and 19 championship games are scheduled between now and August 14, when the boys return to their own lot. The schedule for the trip includes five games in Brooklyn, where the team opens today; five in Boston, four in Philadelphia and five in New York, where the excursion will close on August 11. Manager Hendricks took along all the players and the boys hope to be proud occupants of the first division by the time they reach home again.

GEN. BUTLER TO STICK UNTIL "KICKED OUT"

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—Brigadier General Snedley D. Butler, in his weekly talk to police inspectors and lieutenants today declared that he had been appointed director of public safety for four years and that he would not quit unless he was "kicked out." His remarks were regarded by his subordinates as significant because of recent reports that he would not be retained after the expiration of his leave of absence from the marine corps next January.

RUM RUNNER EQUIPS CAR AGAINST GUN FIRE
ST. ALBANS, VT., July 25.—A high powered roadster that had come down from Canada with a cargo of beer, was found to be provided with a shield for the driver against gunfire when it was brought here today by prohibition enforcement agents. The car had been built up with sheet iron.

The agents, on motorcycles, had run the car down near Montpelier. The driver escaped. There was no report of any shots having been fired, but in other cases recently shots have been exchanged. The sheet iron cover was regarded as a recognition of armed warfare between the rum runners and prohibition officers.

Fire Truck Slightly Damaged When Hit By N. & W. Train; Firemen Stick to Post; Uninjured

Slight damage was caused to the Hilltop fire truck last night about 10 o'clock when it was struck by part of N. & W. passenger train No. 20 on the Lincoln street crossing as the train was being backed up into the local yards and the truck was enroute to the East End station to fill in while the East End machine was out on a call.

Captain Garland Lewis and Fireman Frank Hoy were on the truck and last night following the accident Chief Leedom said that both men escaped without serious injuries by sticking to their post instead of jumping. Driver Lewis was given considerable credit by Chief Leedom for his effort to dodge the train by swerving the truck sharply to one side in an attempt to get out of its path. The truck was dragged about eight feet by the train. The machine being on the eastern extremity of the crossing when the train came to a dead stop. According to Captain Lewis he did not hear a train bell or whistle and did not see any light on the rear coach of the train which is not was backed up into the yards after passengers and express are unloaded at the Waller street depot. The truck with a mangled fender was able to pull out upon the crossing and returned to its station under its own power. The train was in charge of Conductor R. E. Plinson and Engineer E. P. Fox.

Urges Undercrossing Need. Fire Chief Robert Leedom, commenting upon the accident, said: "Here is a splendid example of the need of some relief on the grade crossing problem. An overhead crossing or an undercrossing would have made this accident impossible."

"Potash and Permutter," Real Comedy Delights Patrons of Columbia Theatre

One of the most remarkable motion pictures that it has ever been our good fortune to see opened an engagement at the Columbia theatre last night. It is "Potash and Permutter," and it is a first National picture, having been produced by Samuel Goldwyn from the famous stage play by Montague Glass and Charles Klein.

We went to the Columbia in high anticipation. For many years we had been an avid reader of the stories in the Saturday Evening Post, and we had looked forward to seeing Alie Potash and Morris Permutter come to life on the screen. We knew that the screen version could not be otherwise than good, but we were not prepared for the high degree of entertainment that we saw on the silver sheet. In brief, we did not know that a "movie" could be so good. That is why we call it a remarkable picture.

A few seconds after the main title was flashed on the screen there arose a flutter among the audience. A minute later it had expanded into a roar of laughter which grew constantly in volume and remained practically continuous. Now and then there was a lull, as a tender note of pathos theatre again was rocking.

Hempstead Hospital Assessment Due

A large number of subscribers have overlooked the fifth payment on their Hempstead hospital subscriptions, due July 1, and there are still some subscribers who have yet to make their initial payments. Statements are now being prepared for these people, but much clerical work and postage will be saved if the payments overdue are brought up to date before these statements are mailed.

Eighty-five percent of the total pledge is now due. The treasurer urges that every subscriber bring his payments up to date, and will greatly appreciate payments in full. Construction work at the hospital is nearing completion, and it is therefore very urgent that payments be met when due, or paid in advance when possible. Checks should be made payable to George D. Selby, treasurer, and payments made at his office in The Security Bank. Please bring your receipt cards with you.

Hempstead Hospital Commission, Geo. D. Selby, Treasurer.

Team Fared Well At Home

The Reds won eleven games and lost six during the invasion of the Eastern clubs. They got away to a great start by taking four out of five from the Phillies, but slipped a little as the series went along. They won two out of three from the Braves, three out of five from the Robins, and could only break even in the four games with the Giants, after winning the first two.

THOUGHT OCEAN TRIP WOULD RESTORE HEALTH

"It was Tanlac that got me back on health's highway and the going is so good that it gives me real pleasure to praise Tanlac." This statement was made recently by Ralph Redden, proprietor of the Radio Gaylor and Suspender Co., 230 10th St., East Moline, Ill.

"This spring I felt so run-down that I was planning an ocean trip with the hope of bringing back my lost energy. But luckily I avoided this heavy expense and loss of time by taking Tanlac. This medicine accomplished the very thing I was seeking and supplied me with a 100 per cent good health."

"Before taking Tanlac meal time had little attraction for me and I was troubled with stomach disorders. But when the call to meals comes now I am eager to go, for I have an untiring appetite and perfect digestion. In fact, Tanlac has put me in top-notch fettle and I think it great."

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—I want you to help me out in an argument. It seems that public sentiment is against me in one respect, and my mother demands me all the time about it. I am a working girl and though I never earned very much for the "male of the species," I now have the opportunity to have a real good time. A young man about fifteen years older than I takes me out occasionally, and we generally enjoy each other's company. He seems so sensible, and there is no foolishness with him at all. My mother says I should go with a younger man, but this is the way it is. I never would have a bean if it depended on me for I never give a man a chance. I do enjoy a man's company, but would never seek it. What do you think about it? I am anxious to know the opinion of an uninterested person.

—MOLLIE O.

Dear Miss Wise—Would you please tell me whether or not the following coins are worth more than their face value? Half dime, 1818; dime, 1837, and penny, 1851.

—BROWN EYES.

Inquire at any local bank. They can probably tell you about them.

Dear Dolly—Would you please tell me the name and address of the woman here that gives private dancing lessons? How much does she charge?

—WANTING TO LEARN.

You will have to call me, or send a stamped-addressed envelope that I might give you the information you want.

Miss Dolly Wise—We know our Women's Clubs, Civic Clubs, Chamber of Commerce and residents in general have done everything possible to make our city clean and picturesque as possible, and we are proud of it. But the residents in a certain block on Campbell avenue have been treated to more than their share, as the landlord has put up posts and stretched a clothes line for his tenants to dry the washing out on the front pavement. Do we have to put up with this, and tell us to whom we should appeal?

The city controls the space from the property line to the curb; hence, the department of public service would probably help you out on the matter.

Dear Dolly—Please print a recipe for raisin bread.

—THANK YOU.

There ought to be another name for such a vinegar as Heinz.

It is so different from what generally poses as vinegar. Vinegars vary just as teas, coffees, and spices vary.

The difference between Heinz Vinegars and the ordinary kinds is so great they seem to belong to different classes. And the average family uses so little, that the difference in cost is negligible.

You will never again use vinegars that are "just sour" once you learn that vinegar can be as rich, mellow and delicious as Heinz Vinegars.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Burton

WHAT MRS. FIELD MOUSE SAID

"Howdy, do!" she said when she saw Nancy and Nick.

"Did you find out anything?" asked Mister Zip. "Did you find out why so many people are getting into Happy Go Lucky Park for nothing?"

The Twins shook their heads. "Not yet," said Nick. "We went to see Mrs. Field Mouse in the basement of Maple Tree Plaza, and she says she gives Plop money for taking home washings. She says she spends it all coming to your park and she doesn't care, because she knows he's safe here."

"All right," said the fairman. "Maybe you'd better go and see Mrs. Mole next."

"We were just going to," said Nancy.

So away went the Twins to Mrs. Mole's house under the hazel bush. Mrs. Mole was at home and just doing up the lunch dishes.

"Tap, tap, tap!" went Nick on her front door.

Mrs. Mole dried her hands and answered it. "I declare," she remarked to herself, "I never put my hands into a batch of biscuit dough or dish water or something like that that somebody doesn't come. Who do you suppose it is?"

She put on her specks (for she was very near-sighted) and opened the door.

"Howdy, do!" she said when she saw Nancy and Nick.

"How do you do?" said the Twins. "Is Mikey at home?"

"No," said Mrs. Mole. "He isn't. He's at Happy Go Lucky Park. He's there nearly all the time since it opened."

"Has he any money?" asked Nick. "Money?" exclaimed Mrs. Mole. "I should say so. Why, how could he get in with all that money. I'd like to know! The worst of it is just because he's so big for his age, Mister Zip charges him full fare. And he's two weeks younger than his cousin, who always gets in for half."

"It's kind of you to let him go every day," said Nancy.

"Oh, I couldn't afford it," said Mrs. Mole. "Only my brother always sends Mikey a dollar on his birthday and I keep it for him and give him 10 cents a day to spend. That's where he gets his money."

"Well, we will see him some time again," said Nick. "Goodbye!"

So back to Happy Go Lucky Park went the Twins to tell Mister Zip that Mikey Mole got 10 cents a day to spend.

"Hopping rain touds!" exclaimed Mister Zip. "That's funny! I sort of thought—"

Suddenly he stopped. "How much money did you say Plop Field Mouse got every day?"

"Ten cents for carrying washings," said Nancy.

"And how much money did you say Mikey Mole got?"

"Ten cents out of his birthday money," said the fairman.

The fairman pointed to two little figures in front of the peanut stand, each buying a bag of peanuts. And each was carrying a brand new balloon.

"Then tell me how they have any money left to spend, will you?" said he.

"That's right," said Nick. "If each of them only has 10 cents to get in, how can they come every day and still have 10 cents to spend?"

"There must be something wrong," declared the fairman.

"We'll find out what it is," said Nancy.

"I wish you would," said Mister Zip with a worried look. "If things keep on like this, I never, never will make my fortune!"

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — ON AN ICEBERG

"Now we are all set to go ice fishing," said one of the sailors. So Jack followed the sailors and the Eskimo to a smooth patch on the ice. The sailors cut a small hole in the ice and then, as Jack looked on, the Eskimo suddenly shot his spear down into the hole and shortly brought forth a fish.

"How did he know there was a fish there?" asked Jack. "Oh, that's easy," laughed one of the sailors. "As soon as his hole is cut in the ice, the fish come to it and you can see right under the water and Jack let his spear fly."

John Ainsley, Master Thief

THE JEWELLED CASKET

BEGIN HERE TODAY

John Ainsley, a man of education and breeding, becomes a master crook—preying upon other thieves. One afternoon on Fifth Avenue he knocks down a man whom he sees abusing a hunchback and runs.

At an auction sale he sees newly rich Marcus Anderson buy a golden, jewel-studded box for $65,000. Later he sees Anderson in the company of the hunchback and a crook known as the White Eagle. The White Eagle lives in a modest private residence on the upper East Side, posing as a duke, with the hunchback as his secretary. Ainsley sets about to find out in what way the White Eagle is endeavoring to rob Anderson. He picks the lock of the East Side residence and enters.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

I went over that house from cellar to servants' quarters on the top floor. In these latter rooms I found no clothing. The servants had been discharged and had left with all their belongings. Two floors below, I entered a study. Behind it was the chief bedroom of the house. I knew that it must belong to the White Eagle. And in that bedroom were packed suitcases. To that room, then, the White Eagle would unquestionably come. But in the study was a deceiver of wine and cigars. If I knew my Cochet, there would be at least one cigar smoked and one glass of wine drunk in celebration of his latest coup. In this room, then, behind a great leather couch, I ensconced myself. But before I went into hiding I took half a dozen towels from the bathroom adjoining the bedroom, and from the latter room took a score of apparently discarded cravats. I tested each one of these and found them satisfactory. They were no longer beautiful, but I was certain that they would prove serviceable. And behind the leather couch I knotted them into four stout nooses. I had finished when I heard the front door open.

Cochet bounded up the stairs with an activity which I envied. I hoped that I, when I attained his years, would be as supple. He entered the room where I was hidden, snapped on the lights, filled two glasses from the decanter on the table and lifted one high above his head. The hunchback, less active now entered the room. Cochet greeted him loudly.

"Drink, mon brave!" he cried.

"Drink to the genius of the White Eagle, who sees and swoops and rises triumphant!"

"Genius is too weak a word," said the hunchback. "You work miracles."

my master."

He, too, took the other glass from the table and drank eagerly. Cochet filled the glasses again.

"And of a simplicity," Raoul, boasted the White Eagle, "this piglet of a profiteer shows us his priceless box opens it and lets us behold the richest jewels of his so vulgar wife—that gleam within it. And then, as he closes the safe door, I distract his attention and you snatch the box even as the door is being closed."

In my hiding-place I nodded approvingly. "This was sleight of hand that might be matched against my own gift of legendariness."

The hunchback's voice was deprecating. "I have the trick of the fingers, monsieur, but what are the mechanic's hands without the artist's brains? To you goes all the credit."

Cochet laughed merrily. "But the profits, eh, mon vieux? They are more important than the glory, and you will have your share of those. But you must not stay here. That lady whom you have so justly termed vulgar may desire to see her jewels once again this evening. One never knows in what direction a woman's whim may lead her."

"As always, my master, you are right," said the cripple. "I will telephone for a taxicab; we shall disappear. In a fortnight we shall land in la belle France."

"But so much may happen in a fortnight."

I flatter myself that it was a line worthy of the situation. Certainly Cochet and Lotier greeted it with that stark amazement which a dramatic speech should arouse. I assure you that I have never enjoyed a moment as much as I have enjoyed this one now as, an automatic pistol in my hand, I followed my words into the room from behind the couch.

Cochet recovered his self-possession first.

"This is an unexpected honor, monsieur," he said.

I shrugged. "The more honor, the more surprise to a modest man," I grinned. "Monsieurs will kindly elevate their hands and keep them in the air."

The hunchback flashed a lightning glance of question at the White Eagle. But Cochet knew that behind my levity lurked grimness.

"Obey, Raoul," he ordered. He looked at me. "Does monsieur care to explain?"

I doubt if I could have carried myself any better than he, in such a situation.

"The Anderson jewel-box and its contents, monsieur," I said. "If monsieur will kindly give that to me, I shall bid him bon soir and home chance." I held out my left hand.

The White Eagle simulated amusement. "I have overheard your conversation," I reminded him.

"Monsieur lacks a sense of humor," he retorted blandly. "He accepts little jests as solemn truths."

"The box, please," I insisted.

"If monsieur's sad luck of humor persists, what can we do?" asked Cochet.

"Nothing," I snapped. "But I can do something. I can search you."

The cripple was ready to fight, but the White Eagle was a wary old campaigner. He believed that I would fire, and so he sharply again ordered the hunchback to obey. At the muzzle of my pistol Lotier bounded, with the important ropes that I had manufactured from the neckties, the hands and feet of his master. Then I made the cripple insert his wrists through a slip-noose. I drew it tight, and the rest was easy. The use of towels as gags was unnecessary.

And a few minutes later I decided that it had not been necessary even to bind them. In fact, my presence here was unnecessary. For the Anderson jewel-box could not be found in the expensive overcoat pockets of either of them. Nor had they left it in the hall downstairs, or in the drawing-room, or anywhere else in the house.

It must have been delivered to a confederate, waiting outside the milliner's house. Yet this I did not believe. The White Eagle was not the sort who loses some one else take charge of the spoils of his warfare against society.

"Perhaps," said Cochet as I returned from my fruitless search of the premises, "monsieur is ready to apologize."

I truth, I was. From my pocket I drew a jackknife. I opened it and placed it on the floor.

"It will take you perhaps fifteen minutes to saw your bonds," I told Cochet. "And despite monsieur's affable manner, I feel that I need a quarter of an hour in which to disappear."

Cochet smiled; but behind that smile lay a denier dangerous enemy than the police would be at my heels. Though he smiled, Cochet would never forgive this indignity.

"Bon soir, messieurs," I said. I had failed, but I tried to carry off my failure with a good grace. I am not your vulgar crook who depends on threat or torture. My reasoning had been sound. I did not believe that the box had been surrendered to a confederate, but what is belief in the face of fact?

"You will have time to escape from this house," I said. "Before the police arrive here, provided that there is some element of truth in the jests I heard you exchange. Because I have been unfortunate in no reason that I should wish you ill fortune. Again, good evening gentlemen."

And then I saw a gleam of triumph on the delicate face of the hunchback. Now, one cannot succeed at my profession unless one has the quick intuition of a woman. And to that intuition must be coupled the logic of a man, not of an ordinary man, but the sort of man that I am.

FROM THAT ARTIFICIAL DEFORMITY I TOOK THE BOX.

I remembered how insensitive the cripple's hump had seemed to the rough touch of the bully whom I had knocked down. I tried to visualize the slight of hand by which the box had been extracted from Anderson's safe even as the millionaire locked its door. Where had the box been hidden?

I remembered the affair of the one-eyed man, and how a pearl had been secreted in a glass eye. The jewel-box was too bulky to be placed in the pocket of a dinner jacket, and both of these men wore evening clothes. And the cripple wore a look of triumph. Also, his hump was not sensitive.

Oh, Armand Cochet is the White Eagle, but I am John Ainsley! Shall I add more, or shall I let the modest narration of my deeds speak for me? I bent over, tore the dinner jacket from the body of Lotier, exposed the carefully contrived false hump, and from that artificial deformity I took the jewel-box.

I waved them a mocking goodby. With the box under my arm beneath my coat, I sauntered out of the house, over to Fifth Avenue, and taxied, like any law-abiding citizen, to my apartment overlooking the Park.

Five minutes later I was examining the contents of the casket. I was rich. I could abandon forever the life to which necessity had driven me. At least, on that April evening I thought that I could. I did not know that sometimes there is truth in old saws. I had forgotten one of "Once a thief—"

YOUTH'S QUEST FOR FORTUNE HAILED BY TRAGIC DEATH

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., July 25.—High hopes of two Ohio youths who left their homes to seek a fortune in the west ended in tragedy today when one of them, Ernest Davis, 20, not dead on the railroad tracks where he had fallen asleep. His companion, Joseph Sauer, 17, also of Gallion, told of their start from home several weeks ago in an old automobile, of discouraging experiences that finally led them to sell their machine in Oklahoma and to attempt to make their way back home on freight trains.

Arriving here this morning and hopeful soon of reaching home, Sauer said they sought some sleep. He found a resting place in the weeds along the railroad tracks while Davis, almost exhausted, dropped asleep on the tracks. The youth's body, apparently mangled by a train that had passed earlier, was found by the crew of a later train and Sauer was found sleeping. Unaware that his companion had been killed.

CONFESSIONS CLEAR UP AUTO THEFTS, CLAIM YOUNGSTOWN, July 25.—The arrest of two brothers, Charles and Clarence Wright, here today has cleared up the theft of numerous autos recently, police say.

The pair had confessed to stealing four autos in the past week, according to police. It is thought they can be connected with a number of previous thefts.

YOUTHFUL SLAYER IS FILLED IN POLICE DUEL BALTIMORE, MD., July 25.—George Cross, one of the four youths, convicted of the murder of Louis Cohen, jeweler, in a daylight robbery of Cohen's store here, died last night of gunshot wounds. He had escaped from the city jail and was wounded four times in a gun fight with detectives late in the afternoon when he was discovered hiding in grasses with a block of the jail.

Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S. S. S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S. S. S. builds red-blood-cells, power, it builds red-blood-cells. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaaf, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes:

"I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S. S. S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S. S. S. that did it."

RAIL CROSSING TRAGEDY

HOWS COMMUNITY IN DEEPEST GRIEF

ATTICA, O., July 25.—Bowed with grief, this community mourning the death at Oak Harbor, yesterday of 10 persons, seven of them high school students here, and the injury of 16 more, four of them seriously, paid little heed to reports from the scene of the tragedy that an investigation had been begun to determine the cause of the worst grade crossing accident in Ohio in years.

Coroner E. T. Vesley, Port Clinton, began his inquiry this morning as the bodies of the dead were being brought here from the morgue in Oak Harbor. Two of the most seriously injured remained in a hospital at Port Clinton. They are: Zora Huffman, 17, with both legs broken and internal injuries, and Veronia Lepard, 17, with internal injuries. The other seven who were treated at this hospital were brought to their homes here.

This village is making preparations for the funerals of the victims. Mrs. Verena Cook, one of the club leaders of the children will be buried tomorrow afternoon with services at the Universalist church here.

OAK HARBOR, IND., July 25.—Although an official investigation into the accident at Locust Street crossing here last evening, which caused the death of 10 persons and injury to nine others when a truck in which they were returning from a picnic at Locust Point Beach, was struck by a New York Central train, was not started today, Coroner C. J. Vesley, of Port Clinton, is ready to start the probe tomorrow.

The investigation was postponed because of the illness of the coroner's mother, who is at a Toledo hospital and he spent most of the day at her bedside.

THREE OF THE INJURED WERE DISCHARGED

FROM PORT CLINTON HOSPITAL TODAY

and returned to their homes at Attica.

SPECTATORS DID NOT WORRY THESE YEGGS

CLEVELAND, O., July 25.—Almost within sight of a score of men, crabs, men early today made an unsuccessful attempt to hammer the hinges off a large safe in a store room at the rear of a taxicab company garage. The safe contained $500 in cash. The hammering was drowned in the noise of running taxicab motors. The crabsmen flung through a window when discovered.

5 STILLS CONFISCATED IN GREENUP CO. RAIDS; ONE PRISONER ESCAPES; RECAPTURED

Special to Times
GREENUP, KY., July 25—In a raid made in the vicinity of Rock House near here Friday by Deputy Sheriff E. H. Thistler, A. W. Burdett and Louis Stewart, dry officers, three stills and 50 barrels of mash were confiscated.

Two men giving the names of C. H. Queen, 26, of Logan, W. Va., and Henry Carter, 28, of Callettsburg, were arrested. While Carter was being taken to the Greenup jail he broke loose from the officers and escaped. His freedom, however, was short lived as he was soon captured in Russell and returned to the Greenup jail, where he and Queen will be arraigned at the August term of circuit court.

New Boston Man Accused of Speeding In Ironton Put In "Cooler" After Argument

IRONTON, O., July 25—It's quite an expensive stunt to get hard-boiled after being arrested on a charge of speeding. Richard Mull, said to be from New Boston, is well aware of that fact today. Last evening Mull was clipping 'em off at a high rate through the city and was arrested by Motor Officer Dudley. When brought to the station, the man persisted in using profane language and insisted that the clock on Dudley's motor cycle was out of working order and that he was not speeding. The argument varied hot and finally Sergeant Baldwin, unable to stand the abuse of Mull any longer, charged him with disorderly conduct and put him in the "cooler" to cool off. Early this morning Mull was released on a cash bond of $10.

Fork, two 300 gallon stills and 115 barrels of mash were confiscated, but the stills evaded arrest.

fore are unable to float the loan in question, if the question of Germany's default in any of the provisions of the experts' reparations scheme and application of penalties for such default is left to the decision of the reparations commission, which would mean the decision of France, for a French chairman holds the deciding vote on the commission.

Hence the present difficulties of the London conference.

While Premier Herriot has given verbal assurances that France never will repeat her Ruhr experiment, the bankers demand a safer guarantee, insisting that the prospective loan investors' only security lies in the authority of an absolutely impartial and independent body as regards the questions of default and penalties. The Dawes plan is exceedingly complex and intricate, wherefore many difficulties are foreseen in its practical application.

It is pointed out that if any such difficulties at any time should be made an excuse for the charge that Germany had wilfully defaulted and an excuse for renewal of independent action by France, the whole scheme would break down, carrying with it not only the loss of the international investors' money, but also collapse of the economic system of Germany which it was the intention of General Dawes and his colleagues to rehabilitate.

The conference's first committee, which is charged with solution of these questions, adjourned today to permit the allied premiers and Ambassador Kellogg to attempt to find a solution. A luncheon engagement of Secretary of State Hughes with Premier Herriot was expected to assist.

This year the Democrats are hopeful that things will be different. They may easily raise a campaign fund of $200,000. The Republicans may raise even more, so there is reason to believe that in the National political strong boxes there will be gathered approximately $15,000,000 for electioneering purposes.

Radio To Get Much Of Expenditure
Radio, an entirely new expense in National campaigns, will get the lion's share of the expenditure, according to present plans. The broadcasting companies are going to reap a real harvest and get back some of the money they have spent in developing this newest art of communication. Thus far there has been no attempt to standardize the political charges for broadcasting other than a preliminary statement by the American Telephone and Telegraph company that it expected to bill $100,000 to $1,000,000 to limit speeches to ten minutes duration.

This time limit is proposed not alone for the benefit of the listeners-in, but for the politicians as well. The broadcasting agencies know their invisible audiences. They know they will not listen patiently to any person for much more than ten minutes. In a political audience there is a large percentage of persons who walk out on the candidate soon after he begins to talk. How much easier it will be for the radio listeners to turn the knob and cut short the term of the orator. The radio people believe they can give the politicians the best value by limiting them sharply in the amount of time they can consume on the air.

Furthermore it is feared that too much politics would drive the listeners from the head phones and the loud speakers. Radio audiences crave variety and will seek for it all around the dial. A too liberal nature in political addresses, in the program would defeat the purpose of the political chiefs and make their expenditures useless.
Word has reached Democratic headquarters here that Mr. John W. Davis, the Presidential candidate, is leaning more and more toward a radio campaign rather than to take the two big swings around the circuits which were suggested to him. Mr. Davis feels he can reach more people by radio than he can by train. The managers, however, are dubious that he should meet the people face-to-face so far as possible. They are anxious to "sell" his personality and while a certain amount of personality will express itself through the microphone, it is not to be compared with personal contact.

Already it has been arranged that President Coolidge shall do most of this political campaigning over the radio. The Presidential broadcasting, however, is not likely to cost the Republican candidate a cent. It is heavily for Mr. Coolidge will speak most of the time in connection with some public event which would warrant the broadcasting stations in carrying the speech regardless of the campaign. Such an event is that on Friday night when Mr. Coolidge will speak by radio to a company of Boy Scouts gathered at dinner in New York prior to sailing for Europe on Saturday. It is peculiarly fitting that Mr. Coolidge should speak to the boys of America at that time when his heart is full of the sorrow attending the loss of his own younger son. When the President announced he would speak to the boys there was a catch in his voice which told more, far more, than the black stigmata of his left arm.

Both of the other parties are going to make their campaign funds as popular as possible, but neither side will limit the amount that an individual may give. Will Hays attempted to do that in 1920 and piled up a deficit of something like $2,000,000 before the voters were cast. In wiping out this deficit the Republicans cast the Hays rate of $1000 only to the winds.
"Wall Street" may contribute heavily to both Democratic and Republican chests, but Mr. La Follette and his followers will have to go elsewhere. Someone suggested that when Mr. Davis was nominated "the business" was so well satisfied with the two leading candidates for the Presidency that it would fail to contribute funds. STRONGER, CHEERFUL AND CONTENTED, THANKS TO PEPGEN

Thanks to the use of Pepgen, the herb medicine now being introduced at Fisher and Streich's Pharmacy, Mrs. Lettler of 430 4th Street, is now again in good health.

"This Pepgen has done my mother more good than any other medicine," said Mr. Lettler, in a recent conversation with the Pepgen Specialist now at Fisher and Streich's Pharmacy. "It certainly must be a wonderful medicine."

It was the past year, my mother, who is now over eighty years old, has been suffering with stomach and kidney trouble. Her food would not digest properly, and after meals she would complain of attacks of gas and bloating. She did not sleep well at night either, and said she always felt tired when she got up in the morning.

"But Pepgen has done her lots of good. I have been surprised at the way she is improving. Her appetite is fine and she says she never has a bit of indigestion now after she finishes eating. She tried a great many medicines before she got hold of Pepgen, but none of them did her any good. Pepgen, though, helped her right from the first dose, and as she kept on taking it she got better every day, so I know it is a good medicine."

The genuine Pepgen is packed in a white and blue carton and may be obtained in Portsmouth only at Fisher and Streich's Pharmacy; Kelso Pharmacy, New Boston. There is a Pepgen store in every nearby town.—advertisement.

FOUR YEARS AGO BLACKSMITH, NOW COLLEGE GRADUATE

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Frank Brown, Smith Center, Kas., was a blacksmith before the war. Today, four years after—he is a college graduate and a school master.

Brown's story came out today as Director Hines of the Veterans' Bureau sent him a letter of congratulation upon his appointment as superintendent of instruction at Ludington, Mich.

When Brown returned from France, his eye shot out, he was sent to the Kansas state teachers college by the government. In three years, and six months he did 16 years school work.

He made up eight years of grammar school, four years of high school and graduated from college on May 25, an honor student in his class.

KING GEORGE ENTERTAINS AT GARDEN PARTY FOR AMERICANS

LONDON, July 25.—Americans walked, talked and took tea with King George, Queen Mary and the Prince of Wales in royalty's back yard, so to speak, when the pleasant grounds to the rear of Buckingham Palace were thrown open this afternoon to 3,600 invited guests, most of whom were American lawyers. It was the first royal garden party ever given in honor of Americans and more citizens of the United States passed through the palace portals today than during the past decade. Behind the severe forbidding front of the big building which faces the Mall, they found little of the ceremony usually associated with royalty.

Their majesties with the Prince of Wales at their heels like a dutiful son, and accompanied by their ladies and gentlemen-in-waiting, came out of the palace in a shower of rain to find their guests lined up under umbrellas along the winding path through the grounds.

After meeting Premier Herriot of France, Premier Thoms of Belgium and delegates to the inter-allied conference, their majesties greeted Secretary of State and Mrs. Hughes after which Mrs. Hughes joined the Queen in a walk through the gardens.

Soon the 3,600 guests were divided into three shifting groups, one gathered about the King, another around the Queen and a third, comprising most of the young ladies in attendance, close to the slim young man whose head bobbed about under the jauntiest of silken toppers. He talked gaily with any one and every one near by, particularly of the trip he intended to make to America this fall.

MAY DISMISS CHARGES AGAINST ROOZE KING

CINCINNATI, July 25.—Indications that three counts charging George Henius, "king of bootleggers," with violation of the prohibition law, in 1922, would be dismissed, were contained in a letter written by Mrs. Nabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general, received by Henius, W. Hough, United States district attorney today.

Mrs. Willebrandt stated that since Henius had been convicted, and is serving sentence at the Atlanta penitentiary on the nuisance and the liquor charge, it would be well to drop the remaining three counts.

LA FOLLETTE CAMPAIGN

MACHINERY ORGANIZED

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Senator La Follette's presidential campaign was given organized machinery today by the appointment of ten out of 11 members of a national joint executive committee with wide powers.

Men and women designed for the leading positions in most cases were those who have participated prominently in campaign preliminaries, but there were two notable exceptions. Rudolph Spreckels, a San Francisco banker, who has been engaged in independent political movements since before the Roosevelt campaign of 1912, and Senator Frazier, North Dakota, listed as a Republican, were additions to the La Follette forces. Representative John M. Nelson of Wisconsin, now managing the campaign out of Chicago, was named as chairman of the new body.

DAVIS CONFERS WITH FRIENDS ON OUTLOOK

DARK HARBOR, ISLESBORO, Me.

July 25.—A series of political conferences were held today by John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for president, at the summer home of Charles Dana Gibson, where he is a guest. The nominee's first callers were William H. Patingall, Democratic candidate for governor of Maine and Fulton J. Redman, who is opposing Senator Bert M. Fernald, Republican, for the United States senate.

They brought what Mr. Davis were encouraging reports on the outlook in the state elections in September, which generally are regarded as a barometer in the general elections in November. The general political situation was the subject of a conference that Mr. Davis had with former Senator Willard Saulsbury, Delaware. Conditions in Massachusetts were gone over at a meeting the nominee had with Andrew J. Peters, Boston.

CLEVELAND, July 25.—7 months old Edward Bojorski, today was lively and in excellent spirits despite the fact that it was the tenth day since he swallowed a safety pin.

Mrs. Helen Bojorski, the child's mother today made their daily visit to a hospital, where the X-ray showed the pin still in Edwards' stomach, but gradually working through the alimentary tract.

MAGEE IS RELEASED ON ORDER OF COURT

SANTA FE, N. M., July 25.—Carl C. Magee, Albuquerque editor, was released on $2500 bond by order of the state supreme court here today, at the termination of a hearing instituted on a writ of habeas corpus.

Release of editor is for the duration of the court's deliberation on the question of the governor's power to pardon in the case of direct contempt for which Magee is under sentence in the San Miguel county jail at Las Vegas.

Burton Claims Sheriff's Office on Merit To the Voting Men and Women of Scioto County:

With the Primary only a few days away I am asking all my friends to continue their efforts in my behalf. I will be nominated as Sheriff if the splendid work that has been done in my behalf should be continued, but of course the result will depend largely on whether the people who want good moral conditions and proper law enforcement go to the polls and vote, for only the votes in the ballot box will count.

Think, talk to your friends in the country, for they depend on the sheriff's office for their only means of protection and inquire of them whether they are satisfied with present conditions. In the city of course they depend on the police department, so there is some difference.

I also invite you to investigate my ability, character and reputation. I refer you to the showing in the last primary in the precincts where I was well known.

I assure you that I can and will improve conditions in this county, with much less expense to the tax payers. And I promise that if I am nominated and elected to this important office, that I will conduct the work of this office through regular appointed deputies of good moral character, and in no case nor under any conditions will I have men of questionable character wearing Deputy Sheriff badges.

Your support is earnestly solicited.

Heat Wave Blanketing East Broken By Storms

(BY UNIT PRESS)

Thunder storms, rain and wind helped somewhat today to break a heat wave which blanketed the east Thursday. Temperatures were generally lower, although in the vicinity of New York the humidity remained high. Albany reported that severe electrical storms caused temperatures to drop from the peak yesterday—91 to 74.

The same thing occurred in Baltimore, while at New Orleans it was high winds which rescued the populace from the hottest weather in nine years.

In New York and Boston it was a slightly cooler today, while in Chicago a four-day heat wave broke. Heavy rains in upper and lower Illinois and in lower Iowa have been hampering the crops.

Tracy Restrained From Releasing Money For Brick Plant Purchase

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—(By the United Press)—State Auditor Tracy today was restrained from releasing money for the purchase of a brick plant at Roseville. The temporary restraining order was issued on a petition filed by L. C. Barber, a taxpayer, who charges that the price, $35,000, is excessive.

Tramp Rifles Ice Box

A hungry hobo is thought to have been responsible for the empty kitchen cabinet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Holbrook, 3012 Rhodes avenue, East Portsmouth, Friday morning. When Mrs. Holbrook went to the kitchen to prepare breakfast this morning she found coffee, sugar, baking powder, potatoes, beans and bread missing along with about $5 in small change.

Last night when Mr. and Mrs. Holbrook retired about 10:30 o'clock they left the rear door open for another member of the household who was due later. He arrived about 11:30 and locked the door, so the visit of the thief was before this hour.

The backyard of the Holbrook property runs to the N. and W. and R. and O. tracks and it is thought that a tramp getting off a train in the yards visited the kitchen.

The operators of the liquor making outfit escaped at the approach of the officers, who claim they know the men and will have them under arrest in a few days.

OBITUARY

Clinton Shoemaker, Sr. The many friends of Clinton Shoemaker, Sr., a life-long resident of Lick Run, and one of the most prominent farmers of Scioto county, were pained to learn of the death of this venerable citizen, which occurred at his home Thursday night at 10:30 o'clock, following an attack of hardening of the arteries, which had kept him bedfast for several days up to the time of his illness. Mr. Shoemaker, a strong, virile man, and never known what it was to be sick, except for an attack of pleurisy, which he readily mastered.

Mr. Shoemaker was a home man, and was born on the farm which he lived to the end of his life. He was away from his home for a longer period than two weeks, despite the fact that he was nearing 75 years at the time of his death. He lived for his loved ones and was regarded as a father of sterling worth, a father who was the happiest of fathers, surrounded by his family. He was regarded as a neighbor of high character and he took an active interest in neighborhood affairs. He belonged to no organizations, devoting his entire life to the betterment of conditions surrounding his home, and his life death is deeply mourned by those who know him.

Mr. Shoemaker was born on December 5, 1849. His good wife passed away about five years ago. He is survived by the following children: Oscar, Clinton, Jr., Mrs. Shoemaker, all of Lick Run; Mrs. New, Jackson, O.; Mrs. Mrs. Adin, Oakes, who lived with her father. He is also survived by five grand-children. The funeral will be held from his late home on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be made in the cemetery at Wheelersburg.

Death Calls Judge Pennell

Word has been received here of the death at Georgetown, O., of Judge William W. Pennell, prominent in Democratic politics in Brown county, and well known in Portsmouth through his work as salesman for the Columbus Blank Book Mfg. Co. Judge Pennell was seventy-four years old at the time of his death, which was due to a sudden attack of heart trouble, to which he had been subject for some time. Funeral services will be held in the auditorium of the Public Building at Georgetown, with the Rev. Dwight Watkins in charge.

Boy Bandits Rob Grocery

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., July 25.—Two boy bandits held up the C. D. Johnson Grocery store, 1819 Eighth Avenue, at noon Thursday, rifled the cash drawer and escaped with $125 in cash and a gold watch valued at $75.

The boys, one about 14 years old, and the other about 16 years old, entered the grocery store through a back door, held up Johnson, the owner, at the point of a pistol and rifled the drawer.

Movie Manager Victim of Highwaymen

Highwaymen continue their operations in Portsmouth, but so far they have not reaped a very profitable harvest.

The latest victim is L. G. Welch, well known proprietor of the Strand theatre in the East End. As he was in the act of putting his machine in his garage last night two well dressed men with their faces partly concealed by handkerchiefs stepped up to him and one of them thrust a gun in his face and told him to "stick 'em up." They politely explained that they did not wish to hurt Mr. Welch but wanted his money. The latter turned over all the money he had with him, $2, and his Ivor Johnson revolver.

Captain Sturtzman, who was called soon after the robbery, made an investigation and combed the East End in an effort to apprehend the highwaymen, but the search proved fruitless.

The victim was unable to give a good description of the two men. About two weeks ago Mr. Welch stated his wife upon entering the garage found a man hiding there. She screamed and the man ran. They were unable to catch him. Since then Mr. Welch has had large electric lights put in the alley near the garage. It happened that these lights were not on last night though and he did not see the robbers until they spoke to him.

Derby Day in Court; Here Are "Winners"

IRONTON, O., July 25.—Thursday was Derby Day for liquor offenders in Common Pleas court and fifteen were lined up at the barrier when court opened for the day. Most of the entries, however, carried too much weight (of evidence) to win but quite a number were "in the money."

Emma Matthews, 28, stood trial and was found guilty of possessing liquor after a hearing before Judge Layne. She was fined $1,000 and costs and sentenced to the Women's Reformatory at Marysville.

William Lochner, whose case was passed for sentence some time ago after he pled guilty to possessing liquor, was fined $1,000 and costs yesterday and in default of payment was committed to the county jail.

Fred Sparks pled guilty to possessing liquor and was fined $1,000 and costs and sentenced to the county jail until fine and costs are paid.

Boys Held For Numerous Thefts

DAYTON, O., July 25.—Robert Wilson, 18, "home at large," and Montgomery Lodge, 19, of Louisville, Ky., arrested here have confessed to nearly fifty robberies in Dayton and other cities and towns in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

They are being held by federal authorities in connection with the theft of $100 worth of stamps from the Underwood, Indiana, post office, which they broke into several days ago.

In their possession when they were arrested police found $2,500 worth of jewelry stolen from the Casper Penzel jewelry store in Middletown, Ohio, Tuesday night. The boys admitted breaking into a tailorshop and cutting through the walls to the jewelry store next door.

O. D. Findley, Dayton, stepfather of the Lodson boy, is under arrest for receiving and disposing of stolen property. Police say the boys declare he acted as their "runner."

Fleming was called from his bed by the two men, his wife told police. They asked for some auto supplies. When he opened his store, she said she heard two shot fired, saw the men flee in an auto, and on going down found her husband dead, with two bullet wounds through his heart.

Whether robbery was the motive, police have been unable to determine.

Countess Takes Job In Factory To See How "Other Half Lives"

CHICAGO, July 25.—(By the United Press.) Countess Elsa, grand daughter of King Gustav V., of Sweden, always wanted to know how the other half lived.

Overcome by her eagerness for adventure, the countess on arrival here a few weeks ago deserted friends among the four hundred invading Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, and secured employment in a leather factory, receiving a salary of $18 a week.

The girl of royal blood, sits opposite a leather cutter guiding long stripes of leather into a cutting machine. For variety she stamps a number on each hide. In the evening she goes home to a little simple room not far from the factory.

Countess Elsa will continue her experiment until July 30, according to her intimates. Her father, Prince Oscar, is president of the Y. M. C. A. of Sweden.

(The countess is registered at the Virginia Hotel here as Miss Elsa Bernadotte. However, she is "not at home" to callers in the evening and has so far concealed her place of employment.

Friends of the countess say she spent several days tramping the street before she secured a "job."

Countess Elsa originally came to the United States as a delegate to the Y. W. C. A. and while the guest of Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, at Chicago, decided to make her experiment in living. She was the guest of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller in New York before coming to Chicago.

Moonshine Found; Two Arrests Made

Following up a tip that a load of liquor had just come in and that it was being put in bottles, Officers Bard, Bonzo and Clowse Friday made a raid on a place at Front and Union streets and arrested two men, giving their names at the police station as James McKee, 24, and Vernon Cremons, 30. About two quarts of moonshine liquor was found in the rear of the store. McKee stated that he had gotten it in Kentucky and had brought it in early this morning. Part of the liquor was in half pint bottles and the rest, which had not been bottled, was in a Mason jar.

Both men will face charges of possession in Municipal Court Saturday. McKee claims that this is the first liquor that he has ever had anything to do with and that his brother-in-law, Cremons, who owns the store, did not know that he had it.

TO BE SURE THEY ARE

JUDGE DAVID GORINKLE, of the Yonkers city court, enters the solemn decree that "mothers-in-law are good, as a rule. They are often misunderstood creatures."

The learned jurist is somewhat better than fifty-fifty right. Your wife's mother is generally all right; your own mother is seldom just right, with your wife's side of the house.

No one can say just why this is, but it is. It may be because of quirk in the feminine character. Somehow a mother thinks no other woman can take care of her boy just like she can, but is more frequently willing to give up her girl to some man than otherwise.

NEARING THE POINT

STUDENTS of the automobile industry have long asserted that a period would come when the market would be saturated, that is the demand for cars would decline and the sales sink to the normal from the abnormal.

This was easily seen, if the market was studied from the common sense view, instead of being colored by delirium.

That point of saturation is at hand, undoubtedly. Sales for the first six months of this year have fallen off heavily, as compared with the peak first half of last year. That, however, is not all the story. Of the three hundred thousand cars sold fully fifty per cent were not individual purchases, but for general public service, truck and bus routes having multiplied enormously this spring.

There are today 15,092,177 cars licensed, this number including motor vehicles of all sorts.

Fifteen states, including New York, California and Texas, show an actual loss in licensed cars. Ohio, showing a gain, goes to second place and trends right on the heels of New York, first, with her 1,160,000 cars. West Virginia has 154,772, Kentucky 204,079.

BETWEEN THE TWO

OF late we have had much of government by blocs. As the campaign warms up and proceeds to a finish we will have much more.

Bloc rule, the combination of congressmen, professing to be the champion and voice of certain classes, is not at all a healthy development in the cross-crossing that has developed in the country's politics. It, however, is by no means as inevitably evil as other forms, other blocs, heretofore existent and altogether too powerful and effective.

It is not essentially evil that congressmen should sell themselves up as the special representatives of agriculture, for instance, because they are out in the open, they are not hired for a price, they are not striving for something that will take away from one class at the expense of another. Their motives are apparent, their ends are clear.

It is essentially evil, however, when interests and combinations pool their resources, hire secret agents and send them down to Washington to corrupt and blackmail congress to ends that profit the individual and despoil the public.

Always it has been the one way, and that the later, in the nation's legislative halls, and that's why we hear most about the awful iniquities of the blocs, for the bloc, no matter what else may be said about it, is generally the inherent foe of all other blocs.

Philadelphia chafes at being made decent and will "fire" General Butler, who as temporary chief of police has been cleaning up the city. Yes, Philadelphia is the rottenest city in the union and like the hog, it enjoys wallowing in its own mire.

Mr. Coolidge is going to call upon the country to elect a congress that will stand with him, that is, obey all orders without question. Let's see. Didn't we have something of a hullabaloo over Wilson doing the like?

The gates of Raedland will close soon. Its opening has been a big frolic for this section of the valley.

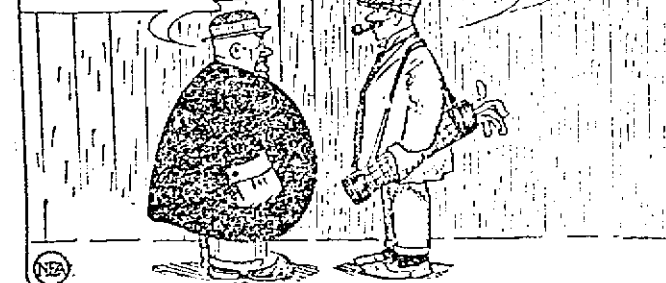

Flour has jumped up. "Twas ever thus. It wasn't a moment in learning the rise of wheat, but when wheat goes down it will become deaf and dumb.

LOOKS LIKE YOU'RE GOING OUT TO THE LINKS AGAIN.

WHAT DOES IT LOOK LIKE NOW?

Now the cat is out of the bag. A short time ago Henry Ford startled the world by announcing he would support Coolidge for president. Today the financial world knows that "Ford is in Wall Street." That is to say he has acquired a position in a New York bank and will henceforth be its controlling force. They never get so much that they don't want more.

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 25.—Thoughts while strolling about New York: The Sixth Avenue restaurants where show midgets go. "Job hunting net," resorted to by "No Casting" signs. A woman interne on a Belle-rue ambulance. The home of a former mayor—with two lighted lamps in old Dutch fashion at the doorway.

How many "ta's" in "Ta-ra-ra-boom-de-ay." The flat, emphatic out of a gas house district. Housewives who live in pathetic doggedness. Husbands who are a prop and a habit. Pipe layers. Muck shovellers and odd job tilters.

Times Square at its calmest—6 p. m. Stage dressers going to dressing rooms. And the blind newsstander at 4th street who knows all the actors.

Furtive ticket speculators. Beatrice Lillie of Charlotte's Revue. One of the new toasts of the town. Commissioner Bright flashes by in his car. Perhaps dirty work at the crossroads. Or maybe it's that woman dropped something or other. An English actor with his checkered trousers and seal brown vest—the old tin of fruit.

A woman swoons in a telephone booth. Perhaps at the right number. The wholesale millinery district in the Thirties. That fellow has had something besides near beer. Stumbling to myself again. Wonder whatever became of the little music-room shop run by a Sicilian with rings in his ears.

Cheerless rug stores. Always empty. A shirt shop with a sign: "We receive patrons only by appointment." That's putting the sixteen pound bomb. Blowsy and unkempt women clinging to the sidewalks. As expressionless as their passions.

Fifth Avenue's drying color and flash. Yellow blobs of light shimmering on the gray asphalt. A baby in freshly restyled padding as a fragile glory in oils. And another day is gone.

At 110th street and Manhattan Avenue the elevated rises to its highest point. Headline writers are calling it Suicide Point. In the past two years five soul-sick people jumped from the elevated to the street below. Three women and two men decided on this spectacular method of ending worldly worries.

Eavesdropped in the litz lobby. A beautiful young girl is speaking to her companion as they enter the elevator. "I certainly pick the citizens. Here I've been wasting my time lunching with him and the poor sap calls me today he's on the wrong side of the market."

It is a subterranean ruck hutch leading down from a street in Greenwich Village. A dim-lit sign sways from the lintel of the door. A brace of cowbells sound the warning approach of the visitor. It is the nearest to the worst side of Paris one may find in New York. It is the haunt of those strange hisping lollipops—the psychopathic hybrids that migrate to Broadway. My guide was a private detective who knows of a world rarely mentioned even in whispers. It was a relief to reach the clear tang of night air on the sidewalk.

It is difficult to imagine Washington Square was where New Yorkers once went duck hunting. It seems so very far down town now even to those living in the Forties and what it must seem at 272nd street. Many old homes around the Square are now being made over into apartment houses. The Brevort—the last of the old hotels—is installing a new elevator. Only a few homes have a tiny patch of lawn in front. Almost any time of day he finds a modern looking crowd on the lower strip of the avenue.

Hills of Home
Dear hills of home, where in early spring
The wild birds come to rest and sing,
And dogwood blossoms snowy white,
Vie with the redheads scarlet bright,
Sweet William's flower, and violet,
Their tender fragrance haunt my yet
Oh, childhood days, long passed and gone,
Memories sweet still linger on
Of meadows green and orchids white
The murmuring brook, the wild bird's flight,
Dear hills of home, so far away,
I pine in the gloom of a recent room,
And wish I was there today.
—By Mrs. B. G. Hesson.

Hopes Deferred
They were on their honeymoon trip in the mountains, and the bride's mother had insisted on accompanying the otherwise happy couple. Suddenly the groom let out a yell.
"Phyllis! Phyllis!" he shouted.
"Your mother has fallen over a cliff!"
"Heavens!" screamed the young woman. "Is she badly hurt?"
"Not yet! She hasn't stopped!"

I WONDER WHAT A MARATHON RUNNER THINKS ABOUT — BY BRIGGS

Second Sight

The young lady, paluist at the church bazaar said to one of her girl clients: "I see by your hand you are going to be married."

"Wonderful," said the girl. "You are engaged to a man named Wilkins," continued the amateur seer.

"How amazing," gasped the girl, "surely the lines on my hand cannot reveal the name."
"Lines," sniffed the paluist. "Who said anything about lines? You are wearing the ring I returned to Mr. Wilkins three weeks ago."

Refusal Impossible

The Hivvies, circus performers, were at the top of their trapeze, and the Mrs. was holding her husband in mid-air.
"Now, dear," she said softly down to him, "can I have that new gown?"
"—er—I am not in a position to say, darling," he replied.

In His Official Capacity

"I hear your friend Jack addressed five thousand people yesterday. Orator or broadcaster?"
"Neither. Envelopes."

Older Than the Law

A salesmanlike looking inspector was surprised to find a dirty roller coveled in the washroom. Indignantly he said to the landlord:
"Don't you know that it has been against the law for years to put up a roller towel in this state?"
"Sure, I know it," replied the proprietor, "but no ex-post facto law goes in Kansas, and that there towel was put up before the law was passed."

At a lecture, the speaker orated fervently: "He broke straight to his goal. He looked neither to the right nor to the left, but pressed forward, moved by a definite purpose, either friend nor foe could delay him, nor turn him from his course. All who crossed his path did so at their own peril. What would you call such a man?"
"A truck driver!" shouted a voice from the audience.

Expensive Habits

Brave Youth: "Sir, I wish to marry your daughter."
Her Father: "Humm. Can you pay the style of matrimony to which she has been accustomed?"

The Sarcastle Thing

Voice: "Main 1000, please — yes, 1000. Line's busy." Say, is this a telephone exchange?
Operator: "Yes."
Voice: "Well, I'd like to exchange mine for a second-hand (council) clipper."
